Ballet: strength and grace

Ballet is gaining an ever increasing reputation in the Quinte area. Just a few years ago the Quinte Dance Centre opened in Belleville under the direction of Brian Scott. Just this week it has been announced that a student of the Dance Centre, Donna Kelly has been selected to join the Royal Ballet School in London England, the second girl from Belleville to be chosen.

In Napanee, another school has opened, under the direction of Rosemary Hunter, and throughout the week, in a tiny studio above Wallace's Drug Store, a group of young, and not so young dancers have begun to learn to dance ballet.

Rosemary Hunter is from a theatrical family, and has herself been dancing since she was only four, and is now herself teaching dance to children as young as 5.

"To become a dancer takes years and years of training and hard work," Mrs. Hunter said, "and she said that her primary aim, with the Napanee school is to introduce youngsters to the elements of ballet, so that they have an intimate understanding of it."

"What makes it be effortless dancing is the result of strict training, natural grace and good health," she said, "but most of all, I want the students here to love ballet, and the music, whether they intend to become professional dancers or not."

She said that muscles must be trained and strengthened, through a gradual process, which could not be forced or sped up.

Ballet can be useful in correcting some minor deformities, Mrs. Hunter said, such as bow legs, or ankles which are turned too far in or out. "The strengthening exercises will help correct these, as well as teach co-ordination and grace, something everyone can use."

She said that during her own years of training, she had known a number of hockey players who regularly took ballet lessons at the National Ballet school in Toronto, to improve their balance, co-ordination, and the precision of footwork, so valuable in playing hockey.

While there are no boys in the Rosemary Hunter School of Ballet, she is hoping that next year she will have enough enrolled to have an all-boys class.

"It has been a mistake in the past to put the boys and girls together. Ballet is different for them both, and the essentials may be the same but the qualities we emphasize with boys are quite different," she said that strength in particular was stressed with boys.

Interestingly enough, she said that karate and ballet were very similar in

Scouts, Cubs to plant trees

Over 30,000 Boy Scouts will plant a million and a half trees in the 1976 Trees for Canada project. The project will help beautify Canada, and provide a future resource for all Canadians.

Over half a million trees will be planted in Ontario, according to Dr. Bruce Jackson, President of the Provincial Council for Ontario. "This project is designed to give all members of Scouting the opportunity to actively demonstrate their interest and concern for the Canadian environment," Dr. Jackson said.

The Deseronto District Boy Scouts and Cubs will be participating in the project again this year, said Gerald Lawlor. "Last year they planted trees at Verona, and this year they will be planting in Napanee, on the Palace Rd. near Highway 401.

The planting is planned for some time in May, but area cubs and scouts will be coming to your door before then to seek financial pledges from the community.

Funds raised will be used to help further scouting in the community, to develop the provincial leader's training centre at Acton, to promote outdoor Scouting, designed to help five South American Countries adapt scouting to meet their needs.

The door-to-door canvass will take place in the Deseronto district after april 12.

Mr. Lawlor said that 32 cub scouts and 18 boy scouts were expected to join from the Deseronto area in the planting operation next month.

Hockey Benefits

Jack Layfield, the Recreation and Community Director for the Deseronto Community Centre reports that the net proceeds from the benefit hockey game held last weekend amount to $279.49. He said that the total contributions from games and dances on March 6 and April 3, total $601.99.

"We are indeed grateful to players of both teams for their interest and support," Mr. Layfield said, "and we are also indebted to the Old-Timers wives for providing and serving lunch on both occasions."

Mr. Layfield reminded all Deseronto ice skaters that this will be the last week that the ice is maintained in the arena, and that the last two public skating times will be on Wednesday and Saturday.

Air strip may be used for relief

The Tyendinaga Mohawk Air-Strip may be put to use as a jumping off point for an international relief organization.

Negotiations are underway between the Tyendinaga Band Council and a company called the Independent International Relief and Rescue. Clifford John, the Tyendinaga Industrial Commissioner explained that the company was similar to the Can-Air Relief organization which will buy relief supplies to disaster stricken areas.

The announcement that the negotiations were underway came as a surprise to those involved, who had understood they were being kept confidential, however, it has been disclosed that the initial approach was made in October.

Mr. John stressed that there had been no definite commitment on the part of the band council, and that negotiations were far from being finalized.

Mr. John said that he would find out why the company, Independent International Relief, had disclosed the details of the negotiations to reporters. Clarke Rollins, MPP for Hastings-Peterborough said late last week that a reporter who had been interviewing Totally Deaf. What's it like?

by: Flora Clark

Note: Flora Clark, the author of this article, has been profoundly deaf since the age of six. She attended the Belleville School for the Deaf, and Gallaudet College, the only liberal arts college for the deaf in the world, and presently works at the University of Toronto Library.

An outspoken leader of the deaf community in Toronto, she is active in several deaf organizations such as the Ontario Association of the Deaf, and a member of the executive committee of the board of directors of the Canadian Hearing Society.

What is it like to be totally deaf? Well, it is a very quiet life, of course. You don't hear anything. It may be a blessing to be able to sleep through a dripping tap, but it costs when the water bill comes in.

It may be a blessing not to hear a police siren or an ambulance siren, which apparently are noticeable noises, but it's not much fun to almost be knocked down by a police cruiser or an ambulance when crossing the street with the light.

A totally deaf person soon learns to use his or her eyes a great deal more than an ordinary person would. You notice the status of the traffic before crossing the street or learn to regret the omission. Very few totally deaf people are knocked down. Not just because there are fewer of them, but because they watch more carefully as a matter of course.

To one who becomes totally deaf, after having hear, life can be a bit of a horror at first. There is no room for this nonsense about fitting into a hearing world. You don't because you can't. If you're bright, you keep up, but always on the edges.

Life becomes a matter of choosing friends who can lip-read, providing you are able to lip read, or depending on pencil and paper with hearing people and sign-language with other deaf people and those few hearing people who have enough hearing to learn the language.

The major inconvenience is those people who cannot accept deafness. They say, "if you would only try a hearing aid," or "you should take lip-reading lessons," or all deaf people ought to be able to lip-read, or "do try and control your voice." Then there are the "oh you poor thing" types. Every handicapped person meets them.

Let us explain the major inconveniences. Hearing aids: they are a help for those who have enough hearing to be helped or aided. A totally deaf person does not have this much hearing. A totally deaf person has no hearing at all. No hearing at all. Such a state of affairs is difficult to accept. There are some professional people working with hearing problems who have worked more than 25 years in the field and still cannot grasp the fact. They advocate "more powerful hearing aids" which is nonsense. A hearing aid is no aid for the totally deaf.

"You should take lip-reading lessons. One begins lip reading lessons almost as soon as the deafness is discovered, provided there is a facility for such lessons anywhere near."

Regular lip-reading lessons are a good idea, if you want to practise words commonly used in society. But, it depends on the sort of adult society you find yourself in. If one is cursed with a bunch of archie bunkers in lip life, one is far better off totally deaf. Really, it is a mistake to think that "all deaf should be able to lip-read..." All deaf do not lip read for the same reason that hearing people do not want to be or just cannot be bilingual or trilingual. One must have the ability and the encouragement.

From the view point of the totally deaf person, who depends upon lip-reading without any input from sound, the average speaker, speaking at the usual speed, using common jargon is quite unlip-read able.

Bird's Eye View

Hey—got a kick out of "Baby James Taylor" getting himself elected to the "Man of the Year of 1843" by the group of Toronto Socials.

Got to say this for him, when "Big Blue Bill" said get out there and tell em they ain't getting no more money he didn't dally about.

Some of the more politic types I've seen would have been hop-stepping from hump to hump trying to dodge the mud and eggs, but not "Baby James", he's plodded right through it all like a skunk on ice.

It may keep him up front for the Chamber of Commerce boys, who seem to feel that to take government hand outs is like stealing, but stealing from customers is good business. We'll see come the next election how many of them are left.

Talking about being left out, I read that bit in Maclean where the Premier of Manitoba said that the labour bosses were so far to the right and agin controls that they were needed to save everybody's job, but maybe not theirs, that he was thinkin of not running again. At least that's my sum up of the article. It would be too bad if'n our labour boys are stuck that far into their jobs that they're afraid of changing and Canada Loses another good man to frustration in the politic game.

I see the tree swallows are back again, right on time. The meadow larks and killdeer have been back for quite a piece, as well as the blackbirds and robins. I think of them as the clinche of spring--to me, the flocks at crows and the colour coming into the tree branches are the first signs of spring.

Course, if'n you want to be a little blue grey look back to last year, when we got thumped with a real digger of a snow storm

I'm looking forward to warm days to loosen up the old bones and anything bad from now on is just a passing wipe. Spring and an early summer is just good liven.

Ballet: strength and grace their abilities to develop strength, co-ordination and precision of movement, adding that she hoped to be able to offer Karate classes at her school as well.

Ballet began to rise to prominence in the 16th Century, in France, after Catherine de Medicis, of Italy married the heir to the French throne. It became very popular in France, and travelling dancers then introduced it throughout Europe. In Russia in particular, it became extremely popular.

In 1695, the first professional school of ballet was established in France, and about that time, the five classical positions were first defined, and by the eighteenth century, dancing had become the virtuoso art it is today.

The nature of ballet means that the choreography of a ballet is very difficult to record, except within the memories of the dancers who pass it along to others.

Thus, ballet is a living art, the result of years of dancing, and the memories of the dancers who have handed it along.

Instead of making nice round 'o's every vowel visually flattens out to eh. Then there are the mouths themselves.

Large hazy teeth are impossible. undershat jaws, overhat jaws, lipless mouths, lippy mouths, personal quirks anything and anything can be an obstacle. And some nitwits have the nerve to SHOUT. Even worse are those who come inside of the three-foot viewing range and shout. The only defense is to make a large show of wiping your face and draw back.

Well, it is a quiet life. It could be worse. Suppose one could not walk and so miss out on mountain climbing, sight-seeing, and dancing. Whoever put those words in Helen Keller's mouth, about it being better to be blind was mad. There are such lovely and tunny things to see. And very fortunately some ugly sounds to miss.

Of course, there is music; to watch Joan Sutherland is not the same as hearing her.

Happenings

The Tyendinaga Senior Citizens No. 503 sponsored a euchre on March 29, which was a success, partly due to the nice evening weather.

The winners were:
Ladies First—Marjorie Brant
Ladies Second—Ruby Hill
Ladies Low—Aileen Green
Mens First—Philip Maracle
Mens Second—Art Barbestock
Mens Low—Jerry Brant
Door Prize—Betty Brant. The nes Door Prize—Betty Brant. The next public Euchre will be on April 13.

The business meeting was held on Thurs. April 1, and the President, Vellis Maracle presided. She expressed thanks to the members who did her work while she was ill. Phillis Judd read cards of thanks and reported on cards she had sent.

The recording Secretary, John R. Brant read the minutes of the last meeting. Aileen Green gave her treasurers report.

The painting of the building inside and outside was discussed and will be done in the near future.

John R. Brant was thanked for installing a hand railing for the stairway. Ada Maracle presented a nice electric clock which was donated to her for the club by O'Connors Jewellery for which members are very pleased.

She then gave a very interesting talk on her trip to Vancouver, where she visited several senior citizens clubs.

A collection was taken for two baskets of fruit for 2 members who are ill.

The club sponsored a corn soup dinner on Sat. April 3, at 5 p.m. The supper attracted a large crowd. Ten games of euchre were played during the balance of the evening and the winners were Ladies High—Margaret Maracle
Ladies Low—Ann Carswell
Mens High—Melvin Maracle
Ladies Low—Bertha Mansfield
Door Prize—Ruby Maracle.

The pool table in the basement was also used by some.

Tickets were sold on a set of kitchen cutlery knives and Isabel won on the draw. A Kentucky fried chicken dinner is being planned for members later in the month.

Four new members have enrolled, Pascal and Nancy Beyette and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnhart.

For the past ten years, the Presbyterian Ladies Aid group has made Easter eggs as one of its annual projects. The first year the group made 100 eggs and gradually increased the number until one year they made approximately 700.

With the increasing cost of ingredients, less have been made recently, but this year, the group has made 500. Most of them are sold and orders are still coming in.

The women enjoy getting together to make the eggs once or twice a week, and have appreciated Stella MacMillan opening her home to make them.

The busy workers, beside Stella, are Dorothy McCullough, Mable Moore, Beryl Harman, Dorothy Grosque and Kay Wood, with help a few times from Violet Barbier who was visiting her sister, Kay.

Mrs. Blake Moore was in Oshawa on Sunday where she visited her son Kenneth in the hospital.

A group of senior citizens from the area has just returned from a 21 day trip to Florida, which was sponsored and co-ordinated by the Tyendinaga Township Senior Citizen's Club.

A total of 42 seniors were along on the trip, from Deseronto, Napanee, Belleville and Trenton.

The Tyendinaga Seniors are preparing another excursion for the summer, this time to British Columbia. The trip will last 23 days, said Wilfred Sager, the president of the club, and will take in the Calgary Stampede, the Klondike Days, in Edmonton and of course, beautiful Vancouver and Victoria.

There are still openings on that trip. This weekend, the club is holding a pancake, sausage and maple syrup breakfast, in the Shannonville Community Centre, Sunday, April 11.

Wil Sager said that anyone who can eat more than one serving of pancake will be welcome to eat as many as they can, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Admission will be charged, and everyone is welcome to join in the fun and good eating

Liberal candidate urges decentralization

Dave Hobson was chosen as the Liberal Candidate for the Riding of Hastings-Peterborough at a well attended meeting in Madoc on Thursday.

"It was just 10 months ago, that the Liberals drew to the public attention the serious financial status of the province of Ontario," he told the delegates. "It was indeed a shock to all of us to discover that we, in the province of opportunity, were billions of dollars in debt; that Davis, moreover, had borrowed money everywhere for anything secure in the dream that money would come from somewhere to pay for his debts as indeed it had while he was Minister of Education."

"What I most want to leave with you tonight," Mr. Hobson said, "is my dream of decentralization, which I have worked for, which most of you desire, and what has been a major plank in the platform of the Ontario Liberals."

"It is becoming apparent that the crush of development and growth and movement of people into the golden horseshoe is unhealthy for Ontario. The only group who benefit from Toronto's mushrooming growth are the businesses that are able to draw on a large and varied labor pool. Workers, on the other hand sacrifice all for a job."

"The alternative," said Mr. Hobson is more growth across Ontario. I propose that all the Madocs, and Marmoras and Havelocks, all the settlements in Hastings-Peterborough should have growth. If each and every community in Ontario grew, just a little, instead of stagnating like they often do now, we would be able to offer our children opportunities to live in the community in which they grew up, without having to leave their friends and families

Two women dropped by college

After spending close to $15,000 to finance the sending of two women to take a retraining course at Loy-alist College of Applied Arts and Science, Canada Manpower has dropped them from the program, just before they were to graduate.

The two students, both from Picton were told that they had been dropped because they had exceeded a 52 week limit, allowed to complete an accounting course. Both had been required to take four month upgrading programs in order to qualify for the accounting course.

The women, Liz Akey and Anne White both took the course with Manpower power's approval, and have been receiving $100 per week for living expenses as well as $13 to cover travelling expense expenses.

Both say they took the course to improve their employment opportunities, so that they could seek jobs paying more than minimum wages.

PC's hold convention

John Fox has been chosen as the new president of the Prince Edward Lennox Progressive Conservative Association.

Jack Kippen was named the first vice president, Jack Stenning the second vice president, and Donald Leery, the third vice-president.

Charles Hepburn has been named the fourth vice-president, Gerry McKinnon as secretary, Edward Purdy as assistant secretary and Dwight Reynolds as the treasurer and chief financial officer.

The meeting was held in the elks hall in Picton, on Wednesday last week.

Artsfest '76

This weekend, on Saturday and Sunday, the Quinte Dance Centre will present "Ballet Antics '76".

The evenings of dance will be held on Saturday, in the Trenton High School, and on Sunday at Centennial Secondary School in Belleville.

Both performances will begin at 8p.m., and admission will be $3, $1 for senior citizens and students.

Next Wednesday, the Concert Brass, and the Trentones, under the direction of Jack Green will be giving a concert at Centennial Secondary School, at 8.15

Jack Green, the well known, and beloved director of the Concert Brass came to Canada from Wales in 1928, and has been in Belleville ever since.

He was the bandmaster of the Belleville Citadel for 19 years, retiring in 1968. He has worked all his life for the CNR, and has been musically active all his life.

In 1929, he won first prize at the Canadian National Exhibition for his cornet playing and has won a number of medals for his performances.

He is recognized as having made an outstanding contribution to music in the Belleville area, and those who attend the concerts this weekend will not fail to be moved by the tiny, good-natured white haired bandmaster.

Former candidate challenges government

The Prince Edward-Lennox NDP Riding Association held its annual meeting to elect the executive for 1976 on Saturday night in Napanee.

Bud Acton, of Napanee has been named the President of the Association, and Harvey Gottfried, of Pictou is the Vice-President.

Bess Wares is now in charge of memberships in Prince Edward, and Ab Martin has assumed the responsibility of memberships in Lennox.

Lynne Gottfried, of Pictou is the Chief Financial Officer, and Ann James, of Milford is the Secretary for the Riding Association.

Jan Nicol, the candidate in the riding for the past provincial election challenged the actions of the Ministry of Community and Social Services with regard to provincial funding in those areas.

"The Children's Aid Society in Kingston for example, has had to reduce its expenditure for food from $3 to $2 per day for each of their children. In our riding we will doubtless not fare much better, although the Coalition Against Cutbacks informs me they are having difficulty getting this information from our local Children's Aid Societies," Miss Nicol said.

"This riding association, and the NDP throughout Ontario are not merely criticizing," she said. "We agree that there must be restraints and our research department has been pouring over ministerial budgets to find out where the real waste occurs. It is not in the Ministry of Community and Social Services and Mr. Taylor is wasting his time berating welfare mothers," she said. "It is particularly ludicrous to victimize these people when there is no way for them to get off of welfare because of the Ministry's other policies."

"That so called work incentive program is not available to the welfare mothers in Prince Edward-Lennox," Miss Nicol said. "Moreover, a study of Canada Manpower statistics, by us, showed that the number of registered unemployed at the Napanee office was generally 10 times greater than the number of registered jobs."

Miss Nicol said that the NDP agreed with the Conservatives, that cutbacks could be made in the health care field. "We strongly disagree that small community hospitals and labs are inefficient and uneconomical. Not only are they necessary in human terms, (how far should you have to travel for emergency health care?) but the Ministry of Health has given no evidence that they are not economically sound."

She said that conservative supporters would point out that Mr. Taylor has worked on "our behalf to reduce the blow to the Lennox and Addington hospital with a reduction now of 10 rather than 25 beds as originally announced."

She said also that she was upset that Mr. Taylor had chosen to make his announcement about the reduction in bed cuts in Pictou, at the P.C. Annual meeting there.

Liberals meet

On Thursday, March 30, the Prince Edward Lennox Liberal Association held a general meeting at the Riding Office, 23-A Dundas Street E., Napanee.

First order of business was the adoption of a new constitution. Nominations and elections of delegates were held for the LPO Annual Meeting to be held in Toronto, April 23, 24, 25.

Those chosen were: Patricia Norton, John Hale, Barry Young, Wayne Lindsay, Bill Edwards and James Head. Merle Pearshall, Wally Beemer and John Cole were selected as alternates.

Following the selection of delegates, a discussion on policy matters received great attention from those present. A motion was made to send two resolutions to Toronto for the policy committee of the convention.

Phil Rickard, executive director of the Belleville General Hospital said last week that administrators of the hospital had not been successful in obtaining satisfactory reasons from the Ontario Ministry of Health for budget reductions of almost $364,000 for the current fiscal year.

"Either they don't know or they're not prepared to say," Mr. Rickard said.

The Board of Directors decided to press the ministry again for reasons, so that the board would know if there was a fair logical reason for the ordered reduction and "unless reasons are given it leaves us very much in the dark."

Before long, the hospital which has closed 30 chronic care beds, and 20 rehabilitation beds, laid off eight full time and 12 part-time registered nurses, and offered part-time work to 24 other persons, will soon feel pressure from the closure of the obstetrics wing at Trenton Memorial Hospital.

The office of Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings-Peterborough, has announced that the ARDA branch, Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development) of the Ministry of Agriculture and food will be involved in several projects regarding various conservation authorities throughout the province of Ontario.

The Crowe Valley Conservation Authority, the Mamora Dam have been included in the projects.

The estimated cost is $100,000, and the province will pay $75,000 of the total toward construction.

Mr. Ellis, who is 47, was first elected to the House of Commons in the General Election of 1972, and re-elected in 1974. He has served as the Caucus Committee Chairman for Public Works and as Mayor of the City of Belleville from 1964-1967.

2 CLASS 'A' MECHANICS ON DUTY
COMPLETE AUTO GLASS SERVICE

Peter Haywood, left, and Steve Morris-Brant, right, have been riding six hours each day in preparation for their trip out west on horseback. The two expect that the trip will take about three months.

Two to ride to Calgary

Westward-Ho, is the cry for Steve Morris-Brant, 16, and Peter Haywood, who will be leaving Deseronto also 16, who will be leaving Deseronto in a few days to embark on a horseback journey of nearly 3,000 miles.

The two are planning to ride a pair of horses to Calgary, a trip which they anticipate will take at least 3 months.

The trip is based upon a very practical reason, "I can't afford to get my horses out west any other way," Steve said, "and I'm going to be needing them."

Once in Calgary, he will be applying for some crown land in the Peace River country of Alberta, where he is planning to homestead, and start a horse ranch. Peter, a lifelong friend from Burlington is going along as a partner. Crown land is available to anyone who can satisfy a board of review that they genuinely intend to use the land, and are dedicated to clearing bush, and actually working the property they obtain.

Provided that an individual can clear at least 10 acres of land each year and erect a habitable dwelling, it can be purchased for very little.

The two youths plan to follow the Trans-Canada Highway, more or less, at least to travel a route which is parallel to the highway. They will be hunting for their own food along the route, and have permission from the Ontario Provincial Police to take a rifle along for the purpose.

As for the horses, some food will be taken along, "they'll have to graze, and if we need it, we'll get hay from farmers we meet along the way," said Steve.

Later, when they cross into Alberta they will have to get in touch with the RCMP, who police the rest of the provinces.

In preparation for the trip, both have been riding at least six hours each day, and admit that at the moment they are suffering from sore muscles.

"A lot of people don't believe we will be able to make it," said Steve, "and they don't think the horses will be able to take it, but we're going to take it easy, no rushing, and we think it can be done."

County cuts Deseronto assessment

Deseronto Town Council was told on Monday night that the Hastings County Levy had been substantially reduced since last year, and that although the Hastings County Board of Education levy has increased, the town will be making a total payment to the County level, of $7,491 less than last year.

This year, the County levy is $21,229 less than in 1975, because of a 1975 surplus. On the county level, the town was assessed $18,205 this year, and for roads, $18,494.

According to the County By-law, there was an adjustment of $6,585.92, bringing the total payment to the County government to $30,113.08.

On the education front however, the rates have increased by $14,294. Deseronto has been assessed $46,816, for elementary schools, and $43,769 for secondary schools, a total payment of $90,585.

Clerk-Treasurer Sam Knapp said that the figures were subject to appeal, and could possibly be altered before the final budget for the town has been struck.

Council expressed pleasure that the County Council had been able to reduce the pressure on the municipality so much, but Reeve George Lyons had some harsh words for the Board of Education.

"The government gave everyone fair warning that the budget was going to be cut back, and that we should live within our means; but the school board didn't. So we in the town have to do without. They, (the Board of Education) always come first," Reeve Lyons said.

He said that he believed "the frills" could be cut away, "so the costs wouldn't go up so high. I learned to live in cold creek, but nowadays they bus them."

Mayor Peter Dickinson explained to Council and Reeve Lyons that the programs of "outdoor education" were not funded from local levies, but by grants from the province. "Many of the Boards believed they could make money by taking advantage of grants offered, and they did too," the Mayor said.

"I have to blame the government at the top," Reeve Lyons replied, "and believe me I will be telling that to Premier Davis next week when I see him."

By-law ready in June

Niall Carney, Planner for Hastings County said on Tuesday that the Zoning by-law for the town of Deseronto should be available by the middle of the summer. He said that at the moment the by-law is being modified by the planning consultants.

For Harold Unger, of Deseronto, it seems that the new zoning by-law will be the chief source of relief, from what he described as a commercial use of land adjoining his property in Deseronto.

Mr. Unger appeared before the Deseronto Town Council to complain that a lot which he had sold specifically for residential purposes, had been re-sold and was now being used as a parking-storage lot for large transport trucks, which refuelled there, and also as a storage lot for derelict vehicles.

He told council that he had put down soil, before he sold the lot, and that the deed had specified that the lot be used for residential purposes. When the lot was re-sold, the deed still specified residential use.

"Parking those big trucks, and wrecked cars is not residential, its commercial, and that property is taxed as residential," Mr. Unger maintained.

Clerk-Treasurer Sam Knapp replied that he felt unless a building were erected on the lot the town could not prevent the activities now being carried out, but did agree that the derelict vehicles could be removed.

By-law number 1549-1557 states that "No land shall be used for the storage of wrecked, discarded, inoperative or partly dismantled motor vehicles or parts of motor vehicles for more than 48 hours. Constables may inspect the use of any land and upon discovery of any vehicle or parts may cause it to be removed. The owner of the land is responsible, not the owner of the vehicle."

Mr. Unger said that recently fumes from diesel trucks refuelling on the lot in question, had blown across and soiled laundry hanging on his clothes line. In addition he complained that the large trucks cut across his driveway damaging his lawn.

Mayor Peter Dickinson said that while the town would act within the present by-law to help solve the problem he said the best solution would be to make sure the new by-law designated the lot as residential, thus preventing the disturbing activities.

Mr. Carney said that when the new by-law is received in the mail. By Mr. Unger, he should check the designation of the land. If he finds it is not designated as residential, he may make an objection, and the Ontario Municipal Board will hold a hearing into the matter.

New feature

This week we welcome the first in a series of reports from our member at Queens Park, Progressive Conservative Clark Rollins. We hope that these regular reports will help to keep the constituents of this riding in touch with the viewpoints and activities of Mr. Rollins.

We welcome letters to the editor and comment from readers with respect to Mr. Rollins' reports.

Check wells: M.O.H. says

Dr. C.R. Lenk, the Medical Officer of Health for Hastings and Prince Edward Counties has cautioned home owners who have homes supplied by wells, and cisterns, in areas which have been flooded that they should have the water systems disinfected.

Following disinfection, samples of the water should be submitted for bacteriological examination, and until the results of the examination show that the water supply is absolutely safe, all drinking water should be boiled or chlorinated.

Bottles for sampling can be obtained from the office of the Health Unit in Belleville, or any of the sub-offices in Bancroft, Picton or Trenton.

Well, I done it. Actualy I done it quite a piece back, but I didn't get up the nerve to admit it in print because of what kind of noise I'd get back from friends and neighbours. But now that I've got a perfect shut-em-up it doesn't really matter.

You know, that's really what keep lots of people from speken out, not knowing what to say if'n some one come back at them

It's the same thing when some one in a bunch comes out with a prejudiced remark; they're not often someone with the guts to speak back, and the guts to speak back, so'n it don't start a fight.

The other day'n the mill, a fellow was telling about coming back from the war and going down to the tobacco fields to try fer work. Said they gave him a mule to go out and scuffle the tobacco plants and it would go for half an hour and then it stopped. So he poured a handful of fine gravel into its ear, and the next time knocked his shoe lace tight around its ear to make it go.

Said if'n it was thinking about its hurt ear, it wouldn't think about not working.

Well, there was about six of us standing about and I was thinking kind of hard, about how to call this guy more of a jack ass than the mule he mule, and still get along when a little guy look him in the eye and says right quiet like, that was cruel. It sure shut him down in a hurry.

Well, like I was sayin, after being in the Scanner office a while back and heard the Rev. Betts and Mary Taylor goin on about how marvelous goats was, to have around and all the interesting things they did and how they were cheaper to keep and more efficient then cows and a whole lot smarter, I did it. I bought me a goat.

Elma was right up on the roof, "won't won't have no smelly goat about, eaten my clothes off the line, one ole goat about is enough," and so on.

So, I say, "Elma just come over and look at em and if'n you don't want to buy one we won't. So she came along.

When she looked into them big soft eyes, and watched some kids a bouncing about and met the bill, pardon, the buck, and she was ready to take the whole herd home.

So, we've got ourselves a Nanny, excuse me, a doe, by the name of Pennelopy, with twin kids. And if'n you got some smart remarks, I'll take you up and give you a sit down with her, and I'll bet you a dollar to a donut if'n you have any feel for animals, atal, you'll be sold solid. So there.

Camran Milligan, 28, from near Empey Hill, has been appointed as Clerk-Treasurer for the town of Deseronto, succeeding Sam Knapp who will be retiring from the position on April 30.

Mr. Milligan began working on Monday in the Town Offices, to acquaint himself with the duties and background of the position, while Mr. Knapp is still in the office.

He will receive a starting salary of $13,500.

Mr. Milligan graduated from the Matra Secondary School, and has previously qualified for his Registered Industrial Accountant's qualification, from the Ontario Society of Industrial Accountants.

Until last June, when Ideal Vendors closed, Mr. Milligan was an accountant at the plant, and since August 1975 worked as the chief accountant at Deloro-Stellite in Belleville.

He is married, and he and his wife Pauline have a five-year-old son. Mr. Milligan may also be familiar to many Deseronto residents because of his hockey and baseball activities with area leagues.

Deseronto Old Timers

Shuffleboard interest has increased attendance on Drop-in Wednesdays, at the Quinte Old Timers Club, but has not decreased interest in playing cards and there were five tables in play.

Some information from chair leader, Jennie McQueen indicated her chair would put on a skit at the general meeting on April 21, but would not name her surprise soloist.

It was learned that two short films, "Family Tree" and "Boundary Lines" will be shown at the conclusion of the business meeting, the latter film a left-over when the projector broke down at the last showing of films.

Leo Palmer and Jack McEwan continue to operate a bus pick-up service for the club.

AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE SUPPORTERS OF
THE HASTINGS COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

We have examined the Balance Sheet of The Hastings County Board of Education as at December 31, 1975, the Revenue Fund Statement of Operations and the Capital Fund Statement of Operations for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances. In our opinion these Financial Statements present fairly the financial position of the board as at December 31, 1975 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario school boards applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year except for the change in accounting for fixed assets as described in note 1(c).

1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Those accounting policies deemed to be significant are as follows:

(a) Accrual Accounting

The accrual method for reporting revenue and expenditure has been used with the exception of reporting of charges for net long term liabilities. Principal and interest charges on debentures outstanding are not accrued from the due date of the last payment to the end of the year. Expenditure is reported in the period in which goods were received, or the services rendered. Goods received during the period are charged directly to the appropriate expense accounts and no inventories of goods and supplies remaining on hand at the end of the period are reflected.

(b) Expenditure — Trainable Retarded

All data with respect to the operation of schools for the trainable retarded are incorporated in the financial statements for secondary schools.

(c) Fixed Assets

Fixed assets are charged to current expenditure unless financed by long term debt. Principal and interest charges on net long term liabilities are included in expenditure in the period due to the extent of the balances of the related net long term liabilities outstanding and of the related temporary financing at the end of the fiscal year.

For 1974 and prior years, fixed assets were reported at cost.

(d) Net Long Term Liabilities

Debentures are recorded as unmatured debenture debt in the year of sale.

(e) Sick Leave Benefits

Under the sick leave benefit plan, unused sick leave accumulates to a maximum of 200 days for academic staff and to 240 days for other staff. Employees are only entitled to a cash payment upon retirement and it is the Board's accounting policy not to provide a liability for future retirement payments. Payments to retiring employees are recorded in the year an employee retires.

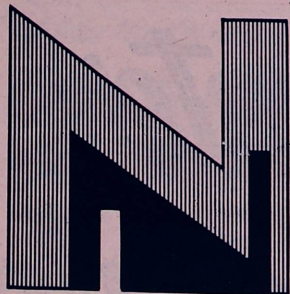

(f) Revenue and Capital Fund Balanced Sheets

The assets and liabilities of the elementary and secondary schools are combined and presented as one statement of position at the end of the year. An exception to this is the separate disclosure of the under- and over-requisition position of municipalities with respect to each panel.

2. DEBT CHARGES AND CAPITAL LOAN INTEREST

The expenditure for debt charges and capital loan interest reported in the Revenue Fund Statement of Operations includes principal and interest payments as follows:

	1975	1974
Principal payments on long term liabilities	$ 894,605	$ 882,478
Interest payments on long term liabilities	952,702	902,938
Interest payments on temporary financing of capital projects	15,100	15,693
	1,862,407	1,781,109

our member reports

Before launching into my first report to you about the 1976 Ontario Budget, I want to express my deep appreciation to the weeklies in Hastings Peterborough for providing me with the space to present this report.

I hope that it proves both informative and interesting in terms of legislation and issues at Queens Park and my own activities in the riding.

I believe that the 1976 budget reflect two significant themes in preserving our existing standard of living and making certain that our present economic recovery continues.

For the first time in many years, the Provincial Treasurer Darcy McKeough has reversed the flow of public spending and brought forward a fiscally responsible budget.

The second theme concerns the urgent necessity to help small businesses improve productivity through tax incentives, (which the budget establishes.) Small business farms the back bone of employment in Ontario.

A lot of my constituents ask me about the specific proposals for carrying out our restraint program and for attempting to bring inflation under some reasonable degree of control. We have accomplished these goals through:

* a 10.4 percent limit in total government spending;

* reducing the total number of civil servants in 1975 by some 3,241 positions, with a further planned reduction of 1,000 positions by the end of the 1976-77 fiscal year.

* freezing the salaries of all senior civil servants in 1976;

* the introduction of tighter spending controls in all government ministries;

* ensuring that Ontario Hydro's borrowings were reduced by some $500 million over the next 3 years, (that meant cancellation or slowing down of certain generating stations)

In getting these measures into effect, I think that we have set a good example and established strong leadership for all citizens of this fine Province.

The vast majority of our citizens are doing their best to cope with inflation. They expect governments to do the same. It is not an easy task because reductions in government spending must be completed without damaging the fine level of public services available to our people.

Jack-the-Ripper approach to budget making is intolerable. It requires delicate care of a top flight surgeon.

So often the statement is made that our budget limits are cutbacks. I have to keep asking myself: How can a limit on the rate of public spending be termed a cutback? Personally, a cutback would less money for any particular ministry than was available last year. That simply is not the case. In most cases there is a limited increase.

If your government did not restrain public spending, then the rate of double digit inflation would continue as before. And that is a frightening prospect which nobody wants.

In future reports, I want to outline our reasons for increasing the costs of certain services and for helping small businesses.

MP visits riding

Hastings M.P. Jack Ellis was in Deseronto for several hours on Sat. meeting and talking with residents of the community, and municipal representatives.

He arrived, in his mobile riding office about noon, and parked opposite Lyons grocery store until shortly after 3 p.m.

He said that much of his time had been spent on problems of receipt of unemployment payments, or old age pension. "It's most red tape, which we can cut through quite easily in many cases," Mr. Ellis said.

He met also with Reeve George

Lyons, Warden of Hastings County and the two discussed budgeting. Mr. Lyons said that because of the 1975 surplus of funds, the County levies had been reduced. Both agreed that the County Roads posed the greatest problem, within the County, adding that there were few major problems this year.

Mr. Lyons told Mr. Ellis that in Deseronto itself, the County road running along the waterfront was being delayed by negotiations to purchase a small amount of land from Canada Optical.

He said that the company officials in Toronto were aware of the need of the town to reach an agreement over the sale of some 12 feet at one end of the plant, and some seven feet at the other end.

"We are still waiting, and if we can't come up with something by April 27, I don't know what we will do," Mr. Lyons said.

Mr. Ellis was told that the town was seeking an appointment with Company officials in Toronto to discuss the matter.

Hastings M.P., Progressive Conservative Jack Ellis chatted with George Lyons, Reeve of Deseronto, in Mr. Ellis's mobile campaign office.

The Deseronto Fire Department was called out last Wednesday to a fire north of Lonsdale. Spring flooding forced the department to take a round-about route, and on a number of occasions to turn around because roads were still covered by more than two feet of water. A burning barn was destroyed in the fire, but firemen were able to check the fire which was spreading across country through dry grass.

Community centre busy for summer

By Jack Layfield.

With the ice season officially ended, Indoor Tennis, Floor Hockey and Lacrosse appear to be the major activities at the Deseronto Community Recreation Centre during the off season.

Floor Hockey has become a popular sport in recent years, and particularly with hockey players who wish to stay physically fit during the off season.

Deseronto's Minor Hockey coaches team have booked two hours a week for this purpose throughout the summer. There is also considerable interest from other hockey groups. Anyone interested in floor hockey should arrange for playing time as soon as possible.

Several lacrosse teams from the Tyendinaga Reserve will use arena facilities one full evening a week for practise sessions. They also anticipate playing several games during the season.

Indoor Tennis will also get underway early in May. Tennis enthusiasts will have the choice of playing on a seasonal membership or a pay-as-you play basis.

Registrations will be held at the arena on Wednesday, April 21, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Rates for seasonal membership play will be—
Adults.....$15
Students.....$10
Children.....$10
Family.....$45
Admission: Pay as you play
Adults.....$1
Students......50
Children......50
Tennis courts will be open to all participants on Mondays and Wednesdays in the evening from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. and on Monday and Wednesday after noon from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. during July and August.

Various special events are also scheduled for the arena during the summer months.

On May 29 the Deseronto District

Minor Hockey Committee will sponsor a dance on the main arena floor. Music will be by SHYLO, and tickets are selling well. The Deseronto Firemen's Association is sponsoring a dance on Sept. 24, and June 4, 5, and will see the Lions Club take over facilities for their annual Lions Club Jamboree. Maintenance work will also be done during the summer months, interior painting, sealing of black walls, repairs to ice flooding machine, general cleaning renovations to first-aid room, installation of plastic covering on boards and a certain amount of landscaping will round out a busy schedule for the off season.

Clean up is April 23, 24

Clean-up week is upon us, and the town's work crew will be making special garbage collections Friday, April 23, and Saturday April 24.

Deseronto Town Council was told by Councillor Fletcher Vick, that the crew would operate in the west end of town on April 23, then from Mill Street east, on April 24. "Now is the time for residents to clean up the odds and ends of junk and refuse, and have it collected," Councillor Vick said.

Those residents who do not take advantage will have to make their own arrangements for disposal of large items or refuse. Town by-law, No. 28-70 states that "where on any ground, yard or vacant lot there is refuse garbage or junk, the owner or tenant shall remove same."

For Deseronto residents, it may not just be a matter of taking rubbish to the Deseronto Dump. Councillor Vick has cautioned council several times that the dump is under close scrutiny by the Ministry of the Environment, and that the Ministry has enforced strict regulations about ground cover. Councillor Vick said that there was only a limited supply of soil which could be used to cover refuse.

He questioned the economics of continuing to operate the dump, which he said was at present costing the town $1,500 per year. Last year it cost the town $600 to replace tires on the backhoe, damaged by sharp objects on the site. The dump is open only on Saturday.

Council also discussed what was using the dump, some council members suggesting that out of town residents were unlawfully using the dump, adding to the problems. Councillor Vick said however, that a recent check of vehicles arriving at the site, proved that few were not from the town.

Percy Brooks, a former councillor attended the Monday Council meeting last week, and challenged the actions of the Ministry in enforcing regulations "Why are they crowding us out?" he asked. "We have spent a lot of money on that dump." Mr. Brooks added that he did not feel other sites were subject to the same strict controls.

PC nomination

Clarke Rollins may have no competition in his bid to gain the nomination as the Progressive Conservative Candidate for Hastings Peterborough in the next provincial election.

Mr. Rollins had considered retiring from provincial politics, making the current term his last. However he announced early this year that he would indeed seek the nomination and run for another term.

So far, no other candidates have come forward for the nomination which will be made tonight, April 21, at the Madoc high school.

Premier William Davis will be the keynote speaker for the meeting tonight.

Shannonville agreement near

An open meeting was held last week to discuss the future of portions of Shannonville, and Chief William J. Brant, of the Tyendinaga Reserve said that a settlement would soon be made.

Part of the village has encroached on land rightfully belonging to the reserve, and for years, according to a treaty agreement was leased to a milling company, through the Federal government.

The milling company then sub-let portions of the original plot, on which other buildings have been erected.

The original lease is now owned by Virgo Foods. This has led to the peculiar state of affairs in which neither those occupying the land, nor the rightful owners, the Mohawks really have control of the land.

Virgo Foods cannot qualify for any government assistance, or make major improvements to the plant, since it does not own the land.

The original lease, which called for the payment of 30 barrels of good merchantable flour each year to the Mohawks is still extant, but in 1971 the payment was refused and a new agreement was sought.

Chief Brant said that the Band would be willing to exchange the village land for another parcel, farmland has been suggested by Federal Officials provided that some other compensations be included.

"It wouldn't be equitable to trade commercial and industrial land for farmland on an acre for acre basis," he said.

BILL LAZARAKOS

Restaurant under new management

The United Restaurant is now under new management, and next week will be closed for renovations.

Bill Lazarakos, and his partner Ted Adam are the new operators of the restaurant.

Mr. Lazarakos has been in the restaurant business for some years, operating highway food outlets along the 401 highway, from Trenton to as far west as Kitchener.

Both men are living in Trenton at the moment and will be moving to the Deseronto area as soon as possible.

Bird's Eye View

THWEEEEEE ---- That sure enough was a scotchier. We was always told not to take off your long Johns until the end of May. I'll tell you, I sure enough took 'em off this week-end, even got a touch of sun on my arms and face.

I'll bet there was a lot of poor sleepers amongst the young uns after sashaying around in their shorts and bare backs on the weekend.

That white under a board slug like winter skin sure take a quick burn. Sometimes makes me wish I had some more evolved type human beings in my background and had dark skin to give some sun protection.

That sun protection sure don't help much for straight human protection if'n yore living in some places. Watched the bit on Rowdesia on the idiot box last night. Don't really think that being a millionaire farmer with swimming pools, etc would be worth the walking about with a machine gun and locking up electric fences every night.

Ain't no much future in that country. I wondered how that Ian Smith kept talking about being a member of the Free World when some black fellow has put in 11 years behind walls for talking about equality and unless yore white you can't even own yore own home. Sure makes me bil.

The weather sure was good for Easter egg hunting. We always hide em out in the morning and the young-uns come over and hunt em up at noon. Couldn't figure out what happened this year, there was three or four eggs short.

I knew I was getting old but I thought between Elmo and me, we could remember all the places all right.

I was right puzzled until I walked around the woodshed and there was our old spaniel sucking on these eggs he'd retrieved. Didn't eat 'em, just followed our scent and picked em up.

He went all guilty like, wagged his tail, rolled over and said don't hit me too hard, I tried to speak mad at him but I save those eggs and broke them up for his easter dinner.

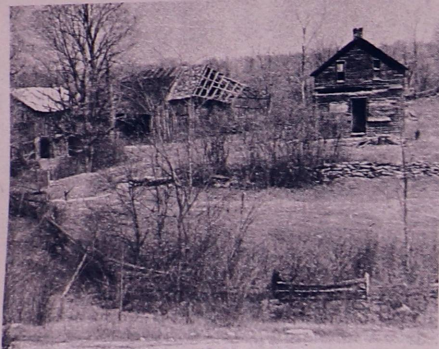

I've been having a great time milking our goat Pennylop. Kind of hard getting used to such a small animal and she's only got two faucets instead of four like a cow.

Fact is, she's more like a dog than a cow. I'd even guess probably a little smarter. I'm glad our dog don't read the Scanner, he'd be right insulted. Being a might more fragile then I was when milking cows, I do appreciate her smaller size and I can't taste no difference between her milk and good whole cows milk.

I sure beats that plastic factory stuff, by a long shot, and its an awful lot cheaper.

But what I likes the best is cleaning up after her. Them there cows have the stickiest smelliest droppings, while our Pennylop has neat dry little rabbit type droppings.

A real blessing for this old muck slinger.

There are many such picturesque views to be found on a tour of the sideroads of Hastings County. The early spell of warm weather encouraged many motorists to go exploring during the recent Easter weekend.

Planting your garden

Bright spring weather is the call of the wild for home gardeners, and according to an Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Horticulturist, its time to start thinking about planting early vegetables and starting transplants.

"Just as soon as the frost is out of the ground and the soil is dry enough to prepare, the cool weather vegetables can be planted," said R.A. Fleming. "Radishes, which will germinate and grow, even in quite cool weather are a good indicator crop. Lettuce, carrots spinach and garden peas can be planted as soon as the ground can be prepared."

He suggests that before seeding, a light application of a fertilizer, high in phosphorus will help the seedlings growth. With transplants such as cabbage and cauliflower, he recommends side-dressing with a good fertilizer to encourage new growth.

Mr. Fleming cautions gardeners about being overzealous when it comes to stirring their tomato and pepper transplants. In warm, heated homes with poor light conditions, the plants tend to become weak and spindly when they're started too early.

"The second or third week of April is early enough to sow the seed of your favorite varieties. By the time the seedlings are ready to transplant to flats or individual pots, the warm days of May will permit the young plants to be set in a bright, well ventilated area during the day."

Transplants grown this way will not be large, but they will be stocky, healthy plants ready to be planted outdoors at the end of May or early June."

Book selling well

Historic Prince Edward, a book published by the Prince Edward County Historical Society, at BQ Graphics, here, with the aid of a Wintario Grant, is "selling like wildfire," reports Earla Welman a member of the society.

The booklet, which sells for $1, includes information and photographs about historical sites throughout Prince Edward County. Sales have already covered the cost of production.

The booklet is on sale at all Prince Edward County Museums, at the County Book and Craft Shop in Picton, and a few copies are available at the Quinte Scanner Office, in Deseronto.

Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sharpe of Kingston spent a recent Sunday with Mrs. H. McQueen.

Mrs. Violet Barbier and son Peter spent a recent weekend with Mrs. Kay Hood. Peter returned to Pikangikum on Tuesday.

Members of the Church of the Redeemer joined with St. Andrews congregation in Picton for a 7 a.m. Good Friday service.

The guest soloist was Bruce Dennis, who has been studying in Chicago and will be going to Knox College in September to become a Presbyterian minister.

Following the service, breakfast was served in the Sunday School hall.

Mr. Dennis had several requests to sing again, and Mabel Moore, of Deseronto and Sharon Campbell joined him in singing.

Some returned to Picton again in the evening to attend the special service featuring music from Handels Messiah at the Picton United Church.

Mr. Dennis was once again one of the soloists.

Mrs. Jean Griffiths and Mrs. Marie Watson of Nanapanee spent the day with their sister, Mrs. Mabel Moore, and called on other friends in town last week.

Dr. Jean and Hank Toews, of Toronto were Saturday guests of Mrs. Lottie Anderson.

Obituary

"He was general in the Social Credit battle for monetary reform." With these words, Ontario Social Credit leader Sid Hamelin summed up the life of Floyd Hawley, who died on March 29, at the age of 50, after a long illness.

He leaves his wife Margaret and six children.

Rev. Reynolds H. James, of Val Caran Free Methodist Church conducted the funeral service in Belleville March 31, assisted by Mr. Hamelin. Social Crediters from all parts of the province joined the family and friends, overflowing the church.

Floyd Hawley was born in rural Ontario, near Ameliasburgh, on April 29, 1925.

He began his college education in Toronto, then went west to complete his studies at Rev. Aberhart's Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute.

There, he first learned the fundamentals of Social Credit and joined the Alberta Social Credit League.

He was ordained to the Ministry in 1956.

In the federal election of 1962, he almost won a seat in the House of Commons, as a Social Credit member for Wakarusa, Alberta. He was less successful in 1974, as the Social Credit candidate in Hastings-Peterborough.

He held many positions within the Social Credit movements, both federal and provincial in both Ontario and Alberta.

Most recently he served two terms as vice-president of the Ontario Social Credit League, and was a member of the league executive at the time of his death.

He was president of both the federal and provincial riding associations for Hastings County.

"Sometimes" Rev. James, a Social Creditist said, "when we admit that monetary reform is needed, we are tempted to say what can one person do about it? Floyd Hawley was like the woman with the alabaster box—he did what he could."

The large crowd joined the strikers at noon on Wednesday, following a Quinte Labor Council decision to support the strikers.

Bud Clarke, the Canadian director of organization for the textile workers union expressed surprise that there had been no show of concern on the part of Belleville officials.

The Provincial Police were called in to search for two Toronto men, who are presumed drowned, off Prince Edward County, near Black Creek.

The two men, Robert Brisbane, 27, of Toronto and Victor Labrecque, 25, of Mississauga disappeared while fishing, and were last seen about 10 p.m. Friday. Their boat was found by the search and rescue helicopter from CFB Trenton about 50 feet from Waupos Island.

Jack Ellis, M.P. for Hastings, in reply to a statement by the Minister of Agriculture, was highly critical of the Dairy Policy for 1976/77. "The policy," which was announced on April 13, should have been announced April 1, 1976."

In spite of the statement that the target price for industrial milk will increase, in actual fact, Mr. Ellis said, the farmers in Hastings County will receive 47 cents per cwt less than they did last year. He said that the subsidy remains at $2.55 but the levy will increase from 65 cents to $1.35, which results in a lower income for farmers.

"This could amount to a reduction of $2,000 to $3,000 annually for local farmers. In addition there will be stringent quota controls and a penalty of $8.60 per cwt will be applied against over-quota production. This, he said means the farmers will receive absolutely nothing for over production. "He has little choice but to cut his herd or to start feeding pigs."

"In a world that is still starving, Mr. Ellis stated, "this is a criminal act."

Grants totalling $40,483 for five Hastings County Projects have been approved from the proceeds of the Ontario Lottery. They range from $37,000 to $250.

The village of Frankford is eligible for a grant of up to $37,000 to help finance major renovations to its community arena.

The Sweet Adelines Inc, Bay of Quinte Chapter in Belleville will receive $1,133 to help pay for uniforms and music.

A $1,000 grant to the Carlow Township Senior Citizens Committee in Bancroft will help publish a book on the history of Carlow Township.

Hockey equipment will be purchased with a $600 grant to the Huron Park Minor Hockey Association in Exeter.

The Belleville Amateur Baseball Association will use a $250 grant to help purchase uniforms.

Culture and Recreation Minister Robert Welch said the grants are part of the ongoing Shore Wintario program to support cultural and recreational activities.

Flooding is still a problem in parts of Hastings County, where unusually high water levels have forced the closure of some roads.

Spray now for maple mites

If you took a close look at your soft maple trees last spring and early summer, you may have noticed red or green bumps on the leaves.

This injury, caused by a spider mite known as the maple bladder gall mite, usually isn't so much damaging as it is unsightly, according to Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, R.A. Fleming.

"The galls are quite easily seen in late spring and early summer and generally aren't so much damaging as it is unsightly, according to Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, R.A. Fleming.

He recommends spraying now, since this pest cannot effectively be controlled at any other time of year.

Dormant sprays, available from local garden-centres should be applied on a bright warm day, just as the buds are bursting.

They should be used according to the manufacturers' directions, and must thoroughly cover all parts of the tree.

Artsfest theatre program

The Belleville Theatre Guild will present, "The subject was roses" at the Pinnacle Playhouse as part of the program Artists '76.

The play will be presented on April 28 to May 1, and again May 5 to May 8.

Next Thursday, at 8 p.m. the Trenton citizens concert band will give a concert at the Trenton

High School, and the following Wednesday, April 28, the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra will give a pop concert at Centennial Secondary School, also at 8 p.m.

On Saturday, May 1, at 2 p.m. the Prince Edward Youth Theatre will present Clown, a children's play, in the Children's Library of Corby Public Library, in Belleville.

Meanwhile, for the rest of the month, the visual arts exhibition is continuing, in the Corby Public Library Art Gallery.

Lonsdale 4-H

The seventh meeting of the Lonsdale Loopers was called to order with the 4-H pledge, the roll call was answered by 14 members. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Lisa Lalonde. The meeting was turned over to the leaders, who discussed the use of the French Knot and how to finish the "Learning Stitch article."

The exhibit for achievement day will be "Embroidery Stitches" and their uses.

The eighth and final meeting of the Lonsdale Loopers was called to order with the 4-H pledge the roll call was answered by 15 members. Pattie Ann Farrell read the minutes of the previous meeting and they were approved as read.

The leaders told the members that achievement day would be May 1.

For value and keeping quality, Ontario taproot carrots bagged in see-through film, in 2 or 3 pound sizes are a great buy at this time of year, according to food specialists at the Ontario Food Council, Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

The "teeny-weeny" carrots with their green tops on may look attractive at the produce counter, but they are not your better by right now.

For about the same price you can buy a 2-pound cello bag of Ontario carrots or about 1-pound of imported carrots with green tops. This means that you get about twice the carrot if you buy "Ontario". Moreover, you can just pop the bagged carrots into the refrigerator and they'll last for up to 2 weeks. The imported bunched carrots wilt and shrivel quickly and have little flavour compared to the full flavour of the mature Ontario carrots. So, for value and keeping quality look for displays of Ontario bagged carrots and use them in these recipes, tested by food specialists at the Ontario Food Council.

our member reports

MPP Hastings-Peterborough

Why did your Government increase OHIP premiums? The Opposition parties argue that it was totally unnecessary to increase OHIP premiums. In fact the NDP has argued that health insurance premiums should be abolished and the financing of hospital care should come straight out of general provincial revenue.

In other words make it as painless as possible to the patient and even encourage the impression that health services are "free". Well, let me say, it would be the easiest route to take in the sense that it would be highly popular to abolish premiums or not to increase them for any reason whatsoever.

But it would be most irresponsible, especially when your Government is working hard to contain health care costs as part of its overall restraint program. While money is an important factor in developing a good level of people services - whether it be in health, education or social services - it is not the only factor to ensuring the total success of any program. If that were true, then pouring money into a project would solve all the world's worries.

What must be accomplished is the wise and efficient spending of public funds coupled with close scrutiny to maintaining existing levels of service. Not an easy task but not and impossible one. If man could work to get himself to the moon, then he can get greater value for every health care dollar.

Let me illustrate why health care costs must be restrained. In 1970-71 the cost of insured health services doubled from $1,230 million to $2,476 million. Assume the same level of costs and ignore the present rate of inflation and by 1985 health care would cost $11 billion - about 90 per cent of the total Ontario budget in 1976-77. That is unthinkable.

A lot of explanations can be provided for those ever-rising costs including: greater use of health services, greater population covered by OHIP, an expanding volume of medical claims and the greater cost of hospital care.

In the case of hospitals, service costs have risen 106 per cent over 5 years - from $794 million in 1970-71 to $1,634 in 1975-76. These rising costs can be attributed to increased wages and salaries for nurses and hospital employees and to rising energy and food prices. Specific hospital unit costs have increased total spending from $105 to $198 over 5 years.

Just the opposite is true with respect to medical services. Over the past 5 years the total number of OHIP claims have risen from 32 million to 51 million. Placed on an individual basis it means one claim every two months instead of one claim every three months 5 years ago.

Controlling health care costs does not simply mean reducing the number of surplus active treatment beds but includes placing constraints on hospital operating budgets, limiting capital financing, controlling the volume of laboratory tests and making more efficient use of laboratories.

The results will limit insured health care services to 12 per cent in the coming year as compared to the average annual increase of 15 per cent for the past 5 years.

Against this background our citizens can appreciate more fully the need to control health care costs and to continue OHIP premiums. Even with the increases now widened premium assistance will provide for one out of every four Ontario residents paying less. For example, a family of four will save $132 where gross annual income falls below $8,225.

As I have said before, your Government could have ignored this concern and permitted health care to consume more and more of our total budget. But later on somewhere down the road we would all pay more dearly for this inaction.

The combined balance of limiting health care costs and increasing OHIP premiums (not increased for five years) achieves the purpose of maintaining an excellent health care system within tightened restraints.

Liberal criticizes anti-inflation program

Maurice Foster, M.P. (Liberal) Algoma told delegates to a recent meeting of the Prince Edward Liberal Riding Association, which now includes Deseronto, in the proposed new ridings that he was optimistic that the federal government's new anti-inflation program was having some effect.

"This is not an easy program, but it seems to me we're seeing some progress against the battle of inflation."

His remarks did not go unassailed, as the new president of the riding, Kerry Soden, a Belleville Chartered Accountant criticized the anti-inflation program as insufficient. "The most urgent problem facing Canada is inflation, personally, I do not feel the government is doing enough."

He said that he believed the government should be placing more funds in the Federal Development Bank, for community use, and spending more on defence.

The new riding of Prince Edward includes all of Prince Edward County, Belleville, Thurlow and Tyendinaga Townships, Deseronto and the Tyendinaga Mohawk Reserve.

The new riding executive is as follows, John Cale, RR 2 Picton; President, Helen Carruthers, Thurlow-Tyendinaga-Deseronto; William Lane, Picton, (Prince Edward County); Kay Manderville, Belleville.

Summer temperatures, but no leaves yet, to frame this abandoned Hastings County house. Unusually warm temperatures made the Easter holiday weekend one of the finest in many years.

Why no riding office? Nichol asks

Jan Nicol, former NDP candidate for the provincial riding of Prince Edward-Lennox, during the last election, has asked why James Taylor, Minister of Community and Social Services, and MPP for the riding has not set up a riding office.

"It may not be known by many constituents that our present government has allocated funds for all sitting members to be used for the operation of a constituency office in the riding," Miss Nicol said.

While acknowledging that Mr. Taylor's wife handles calls arriving at his home, Miss Nicol noted that "even one job at $175 a week in this area of high unemployment is not something to be passed over lightly."

She said that the NDP had received calls from constituents who were not aware of where Mr. Taylor could be reached locally, particularly people living in the Lennox side of the riding.

1976 officers for Society

The Prince Edward County Historical Society has chosen its new slate of officers for 1976.

Ray Shortt, of RR 2 Picton is the new President, David Mercer, of Picton is the new Vice-President and Malcolm Love, of Waupoos is the Treasurer.

The members of the new executive committee are, Donald MacDermoid, RR 2, Picton, L. Wannamaker, Ameliasburg, Ray Young, Picton, Stella Corney, Picton and Beverly Gander, Picton.

During the last two years, the Prince Edward Society, which had begun to dwindle has been revitalized and retiring president Jack Welzman urged the society to consider joining the Ontario Historical Society, now that the group meets requirements for membership.

Dump closing avoided - Mayor to man site

The Mayor, Peter Dickinson, and a number of Deseronto Council members will be acting as temporary attendants at the Deseronto Dump, on Saturday.

Since the latest dump attendant retired last week, and no replacement has yet been found, the presence of the council members is a necessity. The mayor said he would like a close look at dump problems.

That the dump will be open at all may be credited to the defeat of a motion made by Councillor Fletcher Vick.

Moved at the regular council meeting on Monday night, that due to the increase in the cost of operating the Deseronto dump, the site be temporarily closed on a trial basis.

Council has not discussed the problems faced by the dump with officials of the Ministry of the Environment during recent months, since it became apparent that Ministry regulations would force a closing, or increased cost.

The Ministry has insisted there each time a layer of garbage is deposited in the dump, it must be covered with a layer of soil. In addition burning of refuse is not permitted, without specific permission for each burning, from the Ministry.

Thus, large amounts of burnable materials, such as cardboard, brush and paper are accumulating and filling up the site.

Councillor Marvin Brooks once more stated the feeling that the material being dumped did not all come from Deseronto.

"I think there is more garbage from Richmond Township, Napanee, and the Tyndinaga Reserve than we suspect," he said.

The suggestion was echoed by Reeve George Lyons who said that one of his employees taking material to the dump late Saturday had met a man, who did not live in Deseronto who wished to use the dump. When told that the dump was a Deseronto dump only, the man, who had a half ton truck of garbage to unload, said that he didn't want to go to the dump operated by Sutcliffe's because "it would cost a dollar."

The Reeve said that he believed if burning was carried out at the site, then the pressure would be relieved, extending the life of the dump.

Present estimates for drawing in fill to cover garbage, and bulldozing it into place range between $135 and $200 per week, said Mayor Dickinson, or about $10,000 per year.

"I'm not sure the townspeople realize that the cost is that high, or are willing to pay that much," he said.

Councillor Brooks said that he would not support closure of the dump site until the Ministry of Environment had been contacted, and the problems discussed with them, and until council had advertised to see if a new dump attendant could be found to operate the site.

Teens seek support for scheme

A group of Deseronto teenagers have come up with a solution for working mothers who will require babysitting services when school ends this summer.

The group, all members of the Deseronto United Church Youth Group are considering setting up a summer child activity program for youngsters to supplement the program organized by the recreation department.

"It all depends on how many parents seem to be interested," said Mary Hurd, a spokesman for the group. "We will be using space at the church, and the parks but we need to know pretty soon how many children would be attending to be able to plan the program."

She said that the activities would be designed to be suitable to the ages of the children who would be attending.

While there will be some enrollment fee, the amount will depend upon the numbers of children attending, Miss Hurd explained.

The program is designed to meet the needs of children not much younger than three, and no older than 10. Older children will be able to participate with the department of recreation.

The proposed program would be organized with the knowledge and advice of the recreation department.

Parents who are interested in the program and who would like to let the students know, so that planning may go ahead should call any of the following: Mary Hurd, 396-2821, Brenda or Cathy Lawlor, 396-2811, or Bob Thompson, at 396-2346.

Budget meeting next Thursday

The Deseronto Town Council will hold it's budget meeting, in a special closed meeting next Thursday evening.

The finance committee will be meeting meeting on Tuesday evening to review the submissions prior to the definitive meeting, Thursday.

Miss Hurd said that unless there was definite interest shown, the program would not go ahead.

Mr. Thompson said that the youth group had decided to try and set up the program on its own, because grants for such community projects were no longer available from the Provincial government

"We will try and provide some of the financing ourselves, and by making use of our own facilities. We hope that the students will be able to earn a little money this summer, and provide a useful service."

Make streets priority: Mayor

Mayor Peter Dickinson urged the Deseronto Town Council to set road improvements for the town as a 1976 budget priority.

"Now that a number of projects affecting the streets in the town are coming to an end," said the Mayor, "I think it is time we should try and get some action on our streets." He suggested that additional funds made available to the town, for construction purposes, should be taken advantage of, and consideration given to some planning for street improvements.

Deputy Reeve Terry Whalen, Chairman of the Streets and Road Committee said that his department had been under great pressure because of low budgeting in the past.

"Last year the payroll in our department was about $30,000, and the total budget for the department was approximately $49,000. That leaves just under $20,000 for street work, and not much can be done with a sum like that."

He stressed the importance of an increased budget for 1976.

Mayor Dickinson noted that the Council would be forced to answer for the condition of the streets, while noting that construction of the new sewage system had caused some hardship, it was time to think of repairing the streets.

He added that a Napanee official had told him that when street repairs were made at the west end of Napanee, property owners had subsequently improved the condition and appearance of their own buildings.

Reeve Lyons said that while his feelings could be premature, the County Road Committee would be apportioning funds on Tuesday, and he was hopeful that Deseronto would be receiving special consideration.

Two assault town policeman

Two men were charged with assault of a police officer, after Deseronto Constable Norman Clark was attacked last week while attempting to arrest one of the men for impaired driving.

Both men, Lawrence Howie, 46, and Frederick Hudson, 51, are from the Napanee area. Mr. Howie is also charged with having an alcohol content in his blood which exceeded 80 milligrams of alcohol per 100 millilitres of blood, and also for minor traffic violations.

His associate, Arthur Hudson, was charged with obstructing a police officer. During a scuffle which broke out while Constable Clark was arresting Mr. Howie, one of the men snatched the officer's hand gun, and aimed it at the policeman.

While Constable Clark managed to retrieve the hand gun, he said that he was overpowered by the two and had a pass-er-by, Dave McTaggart of Deseronto not stopped to help him he might have been in trouble.

Mr. McTaggart is a guard at Millhaven. There were no injuries in the scuffle.

The two will appear in Provincial Court, in Napanee on May 3.

Deseronto Old Timers

Curtailment of the pick-up bus for Deseronto Quinte Old Timers Club members did not lessen the attendance at their March Business Meeting. The president, Mrs. Ada Claus, opened the meeting with the usual singing of "O Canada" and repetition of the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mabel Moon, vice-president, presided over the balance of the meeting.

Lulu Gordinier read the treasurer's report showing a substantial balance on hand. The welfare report was read by Jennie McQueen and the social committee report was given by Elsie Palmer. Grace Martin read the membership report showing an increase in the members. The skit by members of the choir was postponed until a later meeting.

Eric Gustafson was welcomed as a new member. "Gusto", as he is more commonly known to Deseronto residents, provided entertainment for the members at the close of the meeting with three selections on his alto saxophone: Drego Serenade, My Prayer and I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles. Two short films "Boundary Line" and "Family Tree" were shown.

During the meeting a notice was read from the New Horizons Project as follows:

In the year 1973, ten members of the Deseronto Quinte Old Timers Club, namely, Gordon Walker, Nora Walker, Ada Claus, Pauline Sills, Mabel Moon, Father Van der Heijden, Leo Palmer, Elsie Palmer, Nancy Reynolds and Joe Reynolds, as directors of a New Horizons Project assumed responsibility for obtaining a New Horizons Grant for the purpose of furnishing quarters for meetings and a drop-in centre for the Quinte Old Timers Club.

They were successful in obtaining a Grant of $3,900 which was spent on 56 nesting chairs, 24 nesting tables, 18 card tables, dishes, flatware, stereo, 16 mm projector, carpet bowling equipment, gament racks, coffee urn, shuffleboard, sundry kitchen equipment and shelving, at a cost of $3,869.15.

Over the last several years the above named directors have been responsible to the New Horizons Program for the spending of the Grant money and the equipment purchased. In other words, the equipment on hand being the property of the New Horizons Program, the Directors of the local project have been responsible for same.

On March 9, 1976, the New Horizon Program advised the Directors as follows: "The New Horizons Program extends its appreciation to the Directors who have worked long and diligently to provide opportunities for involvement by local senior citizens. On the understanding that the Quinte Old Timers Club will continue to provide activities with the resources on hand, the New Horizons Directors should now officially turn over the assets to the Quinte Old Timers Club, officially closing out the New Horizons Project."

An itemized statement accompanied the above which also showed a cash transfer of $113.82.

Quinte conductor dies suddenly

Stephen W. Choma, the conductor and violinist of the Eastern Ontario Concert Association died in Wednesday April 21, in Belleville after suffering a heart attack in his home. He was 46.

Mr. Choma was scheduled to perform that evening with the orchestra as part of the spring Artsfest, and to conduct the orchestra in upcoming performances in the Quinte area in the next few weeks.

Mr. Choma was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Choma, of Tilsonburg, Ontario, had worked at the Bata Shoe Company in Batavia and about 20 years ago moved to Belleville.

There, he served as supervisor of personnel for the Hastings County Board of Education, and taught music in his own time, on a voluntary basis.

He is survived by his wife Sylvia, nee Brethour and two sons, Richard and Mark, who were still living at home, as well as a brother, Andrew, of London, Ontario, a sister Mrs. J. Veronica Holly of Cambridge.

Mr. Choma is well known for his musical contributions in the area, and in 1974, was presented with the Good Citizenship silver medal by Lt. Governor Pauline MacGibbon and William Davis for his musical contributions. The same year he was also awarded by the Queen Mother, one of only ten people to receive the award.

Jack Green, conductor of the Belleville Concert Brass described Mr. Choma as "one of the greatest conductors this area ever had."

The funeral was held last Friday.

Well, I've been called one many a time, and I reckon that I've called quite a few others one, but I got me a first hand look at one up real close out at Ean Bush's place, up near Consecon-Yup a real live Jack Ass.

At the same time I saw me a Jenny Ass that's a female type donkey funny as I've never heard anyone called a Jenny Ass. But when you get down to it I don't reckon I've heard a female type human ben called a Jack Ass neither.

Anyhow, they got them some right fine donkey's a couple of Jacks and about a dozen Jennys.

Some were pintos, some the standard sort of grey with a black cross on their backs; and some brown ones.

What caught my eye was those big soft furry ears and almost rubbery lips on a wide muzzle. They look at you with a right intelligent eye and were so quiet and gentle like. I walked right into the herd of them, after being told to come on by the boss, and not a one skittered, shyed or nipped. Never saw a strange herd of horses I'd have done that with.

Found out some other things bout them I'll pass along, unless you want to be real uninformed and not read on anymore.

Seems that they eat less than a horse or pony of the same size, and that great ear shattering Bray is just their holler, they kind of whisper and sigh most of the time.

There was a mule up there as well, seems their Jack sort of courted one of their mares. They said that was kind of unusual, because once a Jack is used to a Jenny, they don't usually cotten on to horses at all.

The mules don't get to go any where cause they's sterile.

I read up in the cyclopedia that some times a female mule will get mated with a stallion or jack and have a horse, or a mule, but that's rare. If'n you cross a jenny donkey with a stallion horse, you get a hinny. They're bigger and more horse-like then a mule.

I put me the use of all this the other day when me neighbour asked me what I thought of the Truedo and the Sky-Shop deal.

I said to him what kind of hinny do them boys think we are down in the County, that shook his plank and gave me one up in the discussion as he didn't know wat a hinny was.

Anyhow we've growed up with "pork barrel" time was as you had ter see the P.C. man to get a job in the liquor store or even working on the ferry, or the highways. If'n you wanted to work on the Ottawa payroll, you had to go see the Liberal man.

Fellahs like old H.J. McFarland wanting to do business both ways had the hardest time, cause they had to gravey up the pork barrel both ways with out upsetting either.

The only party I've ever heard wanting to change it was a few years back when the NDP was just getting their oats up, but they've been getting quieter and quieter as they get bigger and bigger.

Maybe I've come cynical, but to my mind, that's the way she be.

5 million trees planted

Natural Resources crews are now busily planting 5,381,000 new trees over approximately 5,000 acres of agriculturally unsuitable land in Eastern Ontario.

More than 500 men, and women plus groups of elementary and secondary students and Boy Scouts, will be lifting and packing the seedlings and planting them on scattered land parcels from the Quebec border down past Belleville and north to the Ottawa River and above Highway 7.

More than half the planting will be done on private land, under the Woodlands Improvement Act. Owners pay approximately a cent a tree, but must enter into an agreement with the province to maintain the new plantations for at least 15 years.

The program is successful. This week the 4,000th landowner in Ontario to enter a WIA agreement with the province will be honoured in an informal ceremony and have 35 acres of his Stormont County farm planted with seedlings.

Planting trees in the spring is an old tradition in Eastern Ontario. One of the first known planting was on County School property near Rockland in 1910. In the past seven years alone, Natural Resources workers have rehabilitated approximately 33,000 acres in this part of the province.

Hank DeVries, Kempville Nursery Supervisor says the only thing that could hurt this year's planting, would be continued dry, warm weather. Such an occurrence would have triggered a premature beginning of the growth period in several species, cutting down the seedlings chances of surviving the transplanting process.

The cool weather now being experienced will be an asset to the program.

Quinte News Round Up

Canadian National Railways has announced the introduction of new train schedules, to serve the Quinte Area.

At midnight on Sunday, a new train originating in Kingston will be travelling to Toronto. The mid-afternoon train will make it possible for Quinte residents to spend an evening in Toronto without leaving at noon, as was previously necessary.

The return train from Toronto will leave at 11.30 p.m.

The new afternoon train, called the Railiner does not stop at Napanee.

In addition a new arrangement has been worked out which should make a day trip to Montreal much more convenient.

A bus now leaves Belleville at 8.45 a.m. and links up with the Turbo train in Kingston. The high speed Turbo trip should cut about an hour from the Kingston-Montreal trip, C.N. spokesmen feel.

Another bus leaves Belleville at 6.30p.m. to make an evening link with the train service.

Clarke Rollins has been chosen as the candidate for the next provincial election, at a Progressive Conservative convention at the Centre Hastings Secondary School, in Madoc on Wednesday.

Premier William Davis, the guest speaker at the convention told the meeting that the current Conservative minority government, was making a genuine effort to make minority government work, "because we believe that is the wish of the people."

Mr. Rollins, commenting on the overwhelming show of support he received said that he had renewed encouragement to "carry out my commitments to each and every municipality" in the riding.

Praise for Mr. Rollins came from the Premier who said, "I can think of very few men who have earned the right not only to be re-nominated by our party, but to be re-elected."

While the 1976 budget, for the Prince Edward-Hastings Health Unit has increased by about 10 percent, the levy upon the two counties will be lower this year than last.

Clifford Cotton, health unit business administrator said that there was a large over-levy last year, due to the involvement by the unit in the installation of septic tanks for the first time.

Under the Environmental Protection Act, the health unit receives $25 per installation, as well as a sum from the Ministry of the Environment. Changes were made in the act after the 1975 budget had been struck.

Four municipalities share the cost of operating the health unit, Hastings County, paying $81,893 ($41.8 per cent) The City of Belleville $54,128 (28.9 per cent) Prince Edward County $32,886, (17.3 percent) and Trenton, $22,277, (11.9 per cent).

The total 1976 budget this year amounts to $1,010,305.

The Ontario Police Commission will hold an inquiry to investigate apparent personnel problems involving the Napanee Police Department.

The inquiry comes after the completion of a cursory study of the situation, requested by the Napanee Town Council in February. A report of that study was completed on April 20, leading to the suggestion that an inquiry be held by the Napanee Police Board.

During the last seven years, 20 members of the police force have left.

The public inquiry will examine all personnel matters and police department activities which are deemed relevant to the situation.

The chairman of the inquiry will be Elmer D. Bell of the Police Commission, assisted by Provincial Judge Thomas Graham, and Major General H.A. Sparling, also members of the Commission.

The Napanee Police Commission said in late 1975 that there had been problems of the force, and that morale was very low.

The Lennox and Addington County Library, in Napanee, will receive a Wintario grant of $24,000 which will be used to build an addition to the building.

An expansion, expected to cost $48,000 has been planned, which will include a new children's section.

The section at the present time suffers from flooding and damp.

The grant, a contribution of 50 percent of the balance from the County and privately raised funds will be used to finance construction.

Ministers graduate together

Today, Wednesday April 28, Bob and Bev Thompson, who have served as the Ministers at the Deseronto United Church for just over two years, will graduate together, as classmates in Theology, from Queens.

It is the first time that a married couple will have graduated from the college having studied Theology together.

The two will be ordained together on May 19, in the Conference of Quinte at Cookes-Portsmouth United Church, in Kingston.

The two years in Deseronto have been pleasant years, the Thompsons say, and they were both disappointed that they will be leaving.

United Church regulations however stipulate that newly ordained Ministers must accept placements made by the Church. To place a married couple is not a simple matter, as the two needed to be placed in an area where they could both serve parishes.

And so, they are off to Newfoundland where they will be assigned to one of two areas, the most likely being a remote area, made famous in the song, "Isle the bye that builds the boats," Moreton's Harbor. They will probably be serving a total of 14 churches between the two of them, in an area described in the song, from Fogo, Twillingate to Moreton's Harbor, and a few others across a causeway.

While in Deseronto, the United Church has been the site of increased activity, renovations and repairs have been made to the Church buildings, and the youth activity programs have been revived.

Mr. Thompson became involved in politics, and ran as the New Democratic Party candidate in the Riding during the 1975 Provincial Election.

Recently, the Official Board passed a resolution requesting that the couple be permitted to remain in Deseronto, but the Parish officially qualifies for only one Minister.

"We have enjoyed the time here," said Mr. Thompson, "and the support which we have received in all of our projects." The two will leave for Newfoundland July 1.

As yet there is no word on who will be the new United Church Minister.

The Odd Couple is produced

The Lennox Theatre Guild is presenting "The Odd Couple", a play written by Neil Simon, and the story made popular by the film some years ago.

The '76 production in Nanawee will star two well seasoned comedians Ron McPherson and Eldon Poulson as Felix and Oscar, respectively.

The attractive Pigeon sisters will be played by Eileen Whitney and Diane Harris and the four poker-playing pals by Jim Alkenbrack, Tom Probert, Percy Weir and Dave Thompson.

Sonia Verabloff is directing the Odd Couple. Her last successful production was "Black Comedy". Her set designer, Bob Deutekom will have completed his work by next week as will the costume mistress, Dianne Young.

The play opens April 29 and runs April 30, May 1, 6, 7 and 8.

Tickets are available at Gray's Drug Store, on Dundas St. Nanawee.

Exposition to be held

The Deseronto Lions Club is holding its first annual Exposition, at the Deseronto and District Community Arena, the first week in June.

Displays at the event will include furniture made by Jay Hawley, Indian Handicrafts, Main Street businesses and Most Deseronto service businesses.

On June 5, as part of the same event, there will be a chicken bar-b-que supper in the evening and special games.

James M. Lawrence is the editor-publisher of a new magazine, Harrowsmith which will appear next month. It is the first so-called "back-to-the-land" magazine to appear in Canada.

Magazine published in Camden East

Harrowsmith magazine, described by its publisher as "Canada's first national magazine of country living skills and alternative lifestyle topics will make its publishing debut, May 5, with an initial circulation of 20,000.

Edited from a turn-of-the-century brick farmhouse in southeastern Ontario, Harrowsmith Magazine will be aimed at the growing numbers of urbanites now moving to small towns and rural areas in search of greater "self sufficiency" and a less hurried pace of life.

With a bimonthly publication schedule Harrowsmith will provide regular editorial matter on the following subjects:

Alternative Architecture, vegetable gardening Solar and windenergy, homesteading, finding, buying and improving country property, small stock husbandry ecology, natural cooking and food preservation, folk arts, (spinning, weaving).

We hope to achieve a balance between the strictly how-to-material and articles of a more journalistic or thought provoking nature," says editor James M. Lawrence 29. "Thus, in a single issue, you might find an article telling you how to make maple syrup, a profile of a former Toronto couple homesteading in the MacKenzie Valley and a report on large scale solar energy experiments in Scandinavia."

Dennis Patrick Sears, the best-selling Canadian novelist, who also contributes to the Whig-Standard will contribute regularly to the magazine, his first piece being a vignette of a community barn raising from the same area explored in his book, "Lark in the Clear Air."

"Up to this point, Canadians interested in so-called, back to the land subjects have had to rely on U.S. publications for their informations," Mr. Lawrence says. "We think Canadians are ready for their own national magazines in this field."

12 beds cut at L-A hospital

Twelve beds have been cut from service at the Lennox and Addington County General Hospital, causing, according to the Chairman of the Board of Directors, crowding.

He said that seven beds had been removed from the obstetric ward, and the balance from general care.

Earlier in the year, the Ministry of Health had asked that the hospital close 24 beds, almost a third of the total capacity of the hospital.

The Ministry later changed its decision about the closure, after there was an outcry in the community, and a presentation made by the board to the Ministry.

At that time it was feared that the combined bed cut and a budget cut of $337,000 would virtually cripple the active outpatients department.

Businessman charges town is unfair

A Deseronto businessman, Herbert Puetz, of Deseronto Motors appeared before the town council on Monday night, and angrily charged that the council was not distributing maintenance work on the town vehicles fairly.

He said that the town police cruiser was never brought to his establishment for servicing, and that he had not been given an opportunity to quote prices on other work done on the vehicle.

Councillor Marvin Brooks said that one of the other dealers in the community had "babied" that cruiser all along, and we are going to keep it there."

Mr. Puetz replied that any licenced, competent mechanic was capable of "babying a vehicle," and added that he would like an opportunity to have a try.

Mr. Puetz said in an interview later that he had never been approached by the fire and police committee to give any sort of quotation on work which he could perform on the town vehicles.

In addition he said that general maintenance work was never offered to his company. He said that his business was in a position to have given a competitive offer on the new engine which was installed recently in the four year old cruiser. The engine was subsequently replaced, after it blew some 400 miles after it was installed.

Councillor Brooks said that the car was under warranty because of the new engine. Mr. Brooks did concede, however that perhaps the town was somewhat unfair in not taking its vehicles to all of the town service stations for minor servicing, in addition to purchasing gas from various outlets.

Crack-down on septic systems nears

The time is drawing near, when those residents who have not yet hooked up to the Deseronto sewage system may be forced to do so, or pay the penalty.

The By-law committee will look into a by-law to enforce hook ups.

Mayor Peter Dickinson said that he had received many calls from people who were annoyed that some residents had not yet hooked up, and were openly bragging that they were not.

Fishing season draws near

In Ontario, where the statistics say more than 2,500,000 people go fishing and bring home more than 29,000,000 fish every year, the busy season is just about to begin.

Here in Eastern Ontario, where one out of five residents go fishing at least once a year, bait and tackle shop owners, marina operators, boat rental agents, and Natural Resources conservation officers are getting ready for the sports fish open seasons.

This year, in the counties of Prescott, Russell, Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Grenville, Leeds, Lanark, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Hastings, Northumberland and the Regional Municipality of Ottawa-Carleton, the open season for pike and pickerel is May 8. Musky season opens June 19, and bass are legal, beginning June 26.

In the Ottawa River, Lake St. Francis and the St. Lawrence west of the Robert Saunders hydro dam, pike and pickerel season opens May 8, followed by the opening of bass and musky season, June 19.

In Prince Edward County, and the eastern half of Lake Ontario, pike and pickerel season opens May 1, followed by Musky season June 5 and Bass season June 26.

For more detailed information, anglers should pick up a copy of the summer 1976 Summary of Fishing Regulations at their local district office of the Ministry of Natural Resources or most license issuing outlets.

Rent hearings start Friday

The rent-review board will be holding some hearings in Napanee, beginning Friday, in Napanee.

The hearings will be held in the County Court House, on Thomas Street beginning at 1:30p.m. then again on May 4, beginning at 11a.m. in the board room of the Ministry of Agriculture, at 41 Dundas Street, west.

More Clean up

He said that the sewage system had improved property values, and that for those who had linked up it was a bitter pill to find themselves paying to raise a neighbour's property value in this way.

Consideration was given to organizing an inspection of all properties this summer to locate those properties not yet linked into the system.

More Clean up

An error in a leaflet sent out to Deseronto residents last week drawing attention to new by-laws and clean-up week contained an error in dates. This council has been forced to carry the clean-up week over to the coming weekend.
